

Track

The image shows a construction site with a blue metal frame. The frame is divided into a grid of rectangular sections. The left half of the frame is filled with brown, fibrous cavity insulation. The right half is filled with light-colored, smooth-surfaced sheathing panels. The frame is supported by a concrete floor. In the background, there are rolls of insulation and other construction materials.

Nogging

Cavity
insulation installation

Studs

Track